Tages-Anzeiger

H. David Rosenbloom was quoted by Tages-Anzeiger, a Swiss newspaper, concerning an agreement by the Swiss government which permits the country's banks to provide customer account data to U.S. tax authorities in an effort to reduce tax evasion. Mr. Rosenbloom states that the agreement "is hardly the end of the matter but merely a stopgap agreement." Please visit Tages-Anzeiger's website to see the article.
