

CNN Quotes Matthew Sanderson on Campaigns Suing Media Outlets

02.28.2020

CNN

The Trump campaign has shelled out more than $2 million in two years to a law firm known for suing media companies, a signal President Donald Trump's reelection strategy will be about going to war with the media as well as taking on his eventual Democratic rival.

...

"Is it permissible to pay a firm like Harder to file lawsuits against The New York Times like they did on behalf of the campaign? It's permissible under the rules -- but it is unusual," said Matthew Sanderson, a Washington political law expert who has advised presidential campaigns for John McCain, Rick Perry and Rand Paul. "I don't believe I've ever seen that before."

Matthew Sanderson is also a Member of the Political Law Group at Caplin & Drysdale.

For the full article, please visit CNN's website.

Attorneys

Matthew T. Sanderson

Related Practices/Industries

Political Law